Delta Zetas of the Southern California Council look forward to their biggest social event of the new year when they gather in the International Ballroom of the Beverly Hilton Hotel on Saturday, Feb. 3, at 12 o'clock for their annual benefit luncheon fashion show, Flame Fantasy.

Now known nationwide, Flame Fantasy benefits the Uni-Betic Camp for diabetic children, sponsored by the Los Angeles Metabolic Clinic, a non-profit organization. Mrs. Norman DeWitt of Torrance is chairman of the benefit luncheon.

This year's motif will feature "Your Place in the Sun." To carry out the resort travel theme will be colorful travel posters and a large gold sun on stage. Natural colored straw hats will be table centerpieces gaily decorated with palm trees, flowers and gold butterflies attached to green ribbon streamers. A travel wardrobe will be awarded to a fortunate guest.

Edith Head, Academy Award winning costume designer and a Delta Zeta alumna, will narrate the couturier fashion showing, coordinated by June Van Dyke. Gail Patrick Jackson, another Delta Zeta alumna, will also participate in the program. Music will be furnished by Hal Sandack and his orchestra.

Now in its 16th year, Uni-Betic Camp is the oldest and largest camp of its kind in Southern California. Because camps for children with diabetes are considered an important phase of modern diabetic care, the Los Angeles Metabolic Clinic founded Uni-Betic Camp in 1941. Except for the intervening war years, the camp has subsequently been held each summer for a two-week period in the Barton Flats of the San Bernardino mountains. Complete medical supplies for the campers, who range in age from eight through 16, are stocked at Uni-Betic Camp for daily testing, necessary medication and special diet for each camper.

Dr. William H. Grinshaw heads a permanent medical staff composed of Drs. John Masson, Eugene Berman and Maria Roldan in conducting a rigid medical schedule for campers while emphasizing normal camping activities.

YOUR PROBLEMS
by Ann Landers

"Part Company On Moral Issue"

Dear Ann Landers: I never dreamed the day would come when you and I would part company on a major moral issue. I have cheered your high standards and applauded your basic good sense for years. And now you have disappointed me.

I'm writing about your refusal to boycott pretentious weddings of pregnant brides. Although I'm well aware that a high percentage of brides who wear the traditional white have no right to this symbol of purity, at least their condition is not apparent to the casual observer.

You said "the bride does not owe her guests an affidavit of chastity." The trouble with our modern society is that nobody feels they owe anything to anybody. When we accept pregnant brides as the order of the day it is evident that we are heading toward a state of total moral decay. —DISAPPOINTED

Dear Ann Landers: A low blow to you for your courageous reply to the character who wanted to start a new club called "S.F.T.R.O.T.W.W. G.A.A.S.O.C." (Society For The Restoration Of The White Wedding Gown As The Symbol Of Chastity.)

Although I was a snow white bride in every sense of the word I could not have passed the visual test. And for good reason. My engagement was announced in February. The wedding was set for June. I've always been a compulsive eater and under tension I eat a great deal more than I should. I gained 23 pounds between February and June and I had to be married in a size 12 gown although my engagement dress was a size 9.

According to the standards of that great crusader who wrote to you I would've been boycotted for sure.
